UNACEA RENEWS ITS BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Michele Vitulano confirmed as president.

Michele Vitulano (Indeco) has been reelected as president of Unacea for the next two years. The association's board of directors met on June 5th to make the decision and was also renewed during the Unacea assembly held on May 6th at Villa Ottoboni in Padua. Filippo Muccinelli Venieri (VF Venieri) has joined the board as the only new member. The remaining directors have been confirmed: David Bazzi (Komatsu) and Ruggero Riva (Cgt), who are the two vice-presidencies, Giovanni Bolognini (Caterpillar), Federico Bullo (Cnh Industrial), Davide Cipolla (Cifa), Alessandro Ditillo (Soilmec), Giovanni Pelizza (Jcb Italia), Mirco Risi (Simex), Paolo Salvadori (Imer Group), Mario Spinelli (Wirtgen).

"I am honored by this confirmation of my role - said Michele Vitulano, president of Unacea - and I will continue to work together with the board of directors and the association's team to further strengthen the prestige of our industry worldwide. Several years have passed since Unacea started its activities and I am pleased to realise that we have achieved what once seemed like a dream: a trade association close to companies and with no frills. We will continue our activities along this path, focusing even more on public affairs, internationalization and economic and market intelligence."

Unacea is the Italian trade association for construction equipment. Founded in 2010, it counts around 90 member companies and a rate of representativeness in terms of turnover of 80%, both in producing and importing of all types of equipment: earthmoving, road, concrete, drilling, attachment, and tower cranes.
